INTO THE FUTURE is a program consisting of a workbook and accompanying materials designed to help families with dependents with disabilities, and those advising them, to collect the information needed to develop a future care plan. It prompts caregivers to address questions that often trouble them, such as:

- Who will look after my dependent with a disability after I'm gone?
- How will my family in another state know what to do?
- How will a future caregiver know my loved one's favorite foods, activities, and medical needs?
- What is a guardian and how do I know if I need to appoint one?
- Will there be enough money for my dependent's lifelong care?
- What is the best way to provide financially for my loved one?
- How can I safeguard the individual's quality of life?

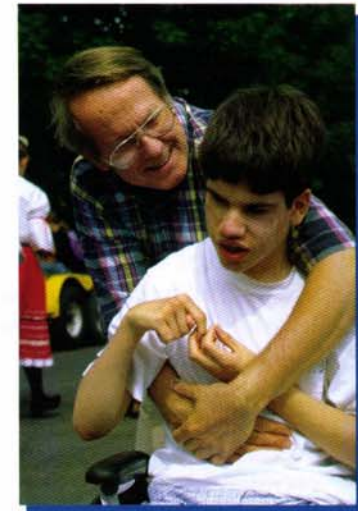

INTO THE FUTURE is designed to help find answers to these and other critical questions. It helps caregivers gain peace of mind by assuring that the future security of their loved one has been planned. It also assists professionals, such as attorneys and accountants, in the planning process.

INTO THE FUTURE prompts caregivers to compile the information required to meet the individual's special needs in the long-term. The workbook is divided into sections to guide the reader through topics such as: medical and life history; habits and preferences; and medical, financial, and legal considerations, in a way that is not overwhelming, and takes into account the caregiver's intentions.

The INTO THE FUTURE workbook is unique in its coverage of individuals' personal preferences in addition to their basic needs. The workbook is a well organized collection of this information to guide future caregivers.

The workbook and accompanying materials also offer information about alternative ways of planning that may be considered. It provides a platform for taking further planning steps with professionals.

Comprehensive Rehabilitation Consultants, Inc. is available to assist families and professionals meet the legal, financial, medical, and psychosocial requirements of sound estate planning by analyzing the individual's present and future needs.
